President's Message

I am pleased to welcome you to participate in Athletics and Recreation at Thompson Rivers University. Your support of our athletes at games and fundraisers is appreciated by all of us here at TRU.

We are very proud of our varsity athletes and their achievements, both athletic and scholarly. At TRU, the concept of scholar-athlete is taken very seriously. We encourage our athletes to perform to the best of their ability in their sport and their chosen field.

This year, our varsity athletics teams have a new nickname: the TRU WolfPack. We look forward to further success in the Canadian Colleges Athletics Association and to a landmark inaugural year in the Canada West Conference of Canadian Interuniversity Sport, where the WolfPack is fielding men's and women's teams in basketball and volleyball for the first time.

Athletics and recreation at TRU is not just for the elite athlete, however. Our campus offers recreation programs for athletes at all levels of play, and for those who just want to meet new friends and have fun while taking part in free activities like ice skating, badminton, floor hockey, and more.

Students, staff and faculty also have access to our athletics and recreation facilities, including our weight room, located in the gymnasium, our track, and the Canada Games pool, which is situated on our campus.

TRU also looks forward to a tournament-class track and field complex currently under construction on campus.

There is a way that everyone, whether from the campus or our surrounding community, can participate in athletics and recreation at TRU. Our game schedule is posted on our website, and I invite you to come out to our home games. I very much enjoy watching our athletes perform, and I know that you will, too. Please join me in howling for the pack!

Sincerely,

Roger H. Barnsley,
President and Vice-Chancellor

Director's Welcome

Welcome to varsity athletics at Thompson Rivers University. We're looking forward to a landmark year, as our women's and men's volleyball and basketball teams play in the Canadian Interuniversity Sports league for the first time, and we're proud to host both the BCCAA provincial soccer and BCCAA provincial badminton championships this year.

It takes dedication to be a good student or a good athlete, and it takes extra devotion and hard work to be a successful student athlete. Each student athlete has made many sacrifices to be part of the WolfPack. Win or lose, they are all champions.

I would also like to thank the many coaches, team managers, event organizers, referees, officials and others who have given much time and talent to varsity athletics, and to those community members who support our athletics teams by coming to games, buying season's passes, or volunteering their time and talents with the TRU Sports Task Force.

Thank you for your interest and support of varsity athletics, and once again, I extend to you on behalf of all of us at TRU Athletics and Recreation a very warm welcome, and a heartfelt thanks for supporting our teams.

Sincerely,

Kenneth M. Olynyk
Director, Athletics & Recreation

Moving up to CIS

Playing in the Canadian Interuniversity Sports (CIS) league doesn't happen overnight. In fact, in TRU's case, the process took four years.

Although it took a lot of hard work on the part of many people, the move to CIS made sense for many reasons. When the first letter of enquiry and expression of interest, and the application that followed were sent to the Canada West conference of the CIS in 2001, nobody knew that the University College of the Cariboo was destined to be made a full university within four years, but in many ways, including its attitude toward and support for varsity athletics, UCC was already a university, Conditional acceptance came from the Canada West conference in 2002, when UCC was permitted to field teams in four sports, women's basketball, men's basketball, women's volleyball, and men's volleyball, in the Canada West conference of the CIS, providing the university college hired four full-time coaches, put in place support positions for athletics, including a sports information director and sports therapist, and gained acceptance by the CIS.

UCC complied with those conditions, applying to the CIS in 2003, and receiving its letter of acceptance in June, 2004. UCC, on the cusp of becoming BC's newest university, was made a probationary member of Canada West for three years, with the CIS probationary period being two years.

Throughout the probationary period, and thereafter, of course, the university must consistently meet membership standards, including paying dues on time, a sports therapist available, complying with CIS awards and game reporting guidelines, and making sure athletes have regulation facilities to play and practice in.

Expanded Facilities

With the Tournament Capital Facility Expansion Project, currently underway at Hillside Stadium adjacent to the Canada Games Pool, this last CIS requirement will be met and surpassed.

When complete in early 2007, TRU's campus will boast a fieldhouse, with an international standard indoor track, a multi-function gymnasium, which will have three hardwood courts with movable partitions to create a championship court, a 13,000 square foot gymnastics facility, and lease space for classrooms, retail, food service, sports medicine/rehab, and a fitness/health studio.

The Stadium itself will include a 400 meter track with an all-weather, rubberized surface, and artificial turf field, and a 1000-seat grandstand. There will also be two 65x100 meter soccer fields.

THOMPSON RIVERS UNIVERSITY

New Look

Campus alterations aren't the only aspect of the new look of university sports at Thompson Rivers University. Last year's change in status from the University College of the Cariboo to Thompson Rivers University necessitated a name change for our athletics teams as well.

After a name search that included input from students, the university community, and the region, the university adopted the nickname "WolfPack" for its athletics teams. The new nickname denotes strength and solidarity, and is suitable for both men's and women's teams. It is also highly marketable, lending itself to slogans like "Back the Pack" and "Howl for the Pack."

With a new nickname has come a uniform change as well. The red and purple of the former UCC Sun Demons has been replaced with the bright orange of the TRU WolfPack, and a new mascot will replace the Sun Demons "Beamer."

New Initiatives

With the move to university sports, the need for more team support has grown. The TRU Sports Task Force, now in its 26th year, is looking to expand with new members and fresh ideas for raising funds for TRU athletes and programs.

The success of varsity sports at TRU owes much to the Sports Task Force. This group of Kamloops business and community members has raised over $1 million for financial and scholarship support for student athletes and the athletics program at TRU, but it's expected that athletics needs will expand dramatically with CIS membership, requiring fundraising upwards of $100,000 a year.

The Task Force already fundraises in a number of ways, with its main activities centered on the annual athletic scholarship campaign at the first of the year, the Annual Gala Dinner, to be held this year in the TRU Grand Hall November 25th, and the Annual Golf Tournament held the first Friday in June. Those wishing to reserve a spot or a table at the Gala, or those with an item to donate for the auction may call TRU Director of Athletics and Recreation, Ken Olynyk at 828-5273.

New Hire

TRU Athletics has hired a new Athletic Therapist in preparation for the upcoming varsity athletics season.

Kevin Brechin, who came to TRU from Victoria, where he worked as a sports therapist at the University of Victoria and at a private clinic, is a certified athletic therapist and certified strength and conditioning therapist with 12 years' experience working with university, national and professional teams. He holds a BA in Leisure Service Administration, and a diploma in Sports Injury Rehabilitation.

Back the Pack

This year, it'll be easy to spot TRU WolfPack season's pass holders at games and tournaments: they'll be the ones wearing the exclusive "I Back the Pack" t-shirts.

The distinctive, fan-oriented t-shirt, available only to those who purchase a season's pass, isn't the only perk of backing the pack. Pass-holders will also get preferred seating and post-game access to players and coaches, along with admission to all games and tournaments, including access to the soccer and badminton provincial championship tournaments hosted by TRU this season. They'll also receive the semi-annual newsletter, WolfPack Tales, and weekly email updates and game reminders.

For the first time, passes are available for single sports or a combination. A pass for all basketball games is $80, and a pass for all volleyball games is $60, or fans can save $40 by purchasing the combined pass for $100. By comparison, an adult admission is $7/game.

"With 50+ games to be played between now and the end of the 2005/06 season, the pass represents quite a saving," said TRU Athletics Director Ken Olynyk, who also noted that the WolfPack will make only 300 passes available this year.

Passes are available from TRU athletes, or by calling 828-5270 or 828-5009.

Thompson Rivers University WolfPack Men's Basketball

Asst Coach
Will Blair

Asst Coach
Scott Marr

Asst Coach
Ryan Porter

This year's Thompson Rivers University's men's basketball team may be the most talented team he's coached to date, according to WolfPack men's basketball head coach Nevin Gleddie.

"I am very pleased to have in place what I believe will be a very exciting team to watch, and a team that can compete with anyone in the country," he said.

The WolfPack, which will play in the Canada West conference of the Canadian Interuniversity Sports league for the first time this season, swept the Canadian Colleges Athletics Association league in its final year of college ball last year, finishing the season with a 27-1 win/loss record, and clinching the provincial and national championship gold medals.

"If a team was going to make the jump from one league to the next, you would dream of winning the championship," said Gleddie, who also raked in the medals last year.

He finished up his last year coaching college ball with the CCAA National Coaching Excellence Award, All Sports, the CCAA Men's Basketball National Coach of the Year Award, the BCCAA Men's Basketball Provincial Coach of the Year Award, and the Basketball BC College Coaching Award.

Seven members of last year's team have returned this year, including All-Canadian Sean Garvey, the point guard sensation who was named national tournament MVP and BCCAA Men's Athlete of the Year, All Sports, for the 2004-05 season.

Fellow veteran Brent Traxel, provincial playoff MVP and nationals 1st-team all-star, has also returned to take the WolfPack into its inaugural CIS season.

Joining them on the court will be seven-footer Greg Stewart and fellow second-year players Steve Waring and Braeden Jones, along with 3rd-year players Brian Smith, Rob Bergen, and Jeff Friesen, BCCAA provincials all-star and one of the conference's top rebounders.

Three new recruits, one just out of high school and two with varsity experience, will also suit up with the WolfPack this year. They include Josh Booy, an experienced, physical athlete who played for TRU two years before playing for the University of Ottawa last year, Joey Farebrother, a talented guard forward who was a 2nd-team all-star when he played for TRU in 2002/03, and Gleddie's youngest recruit, Charlie Spurr, a BC provincial high school 1st-team all-star for the past two years who was his high school's all-time leading scorer.

The WolfPack is also looking forward to the January arrival of Alessandro Batista, a multi-talented guard forward from Brazil who last played for NCAA Division 3 Warner Pacific College in Oregon, and represented his country at the Universidad Games in Turkey this past summer.

Gleddie is also very pleased with assistant coaches Will Blair, Scott Marr and Ryan Porter. "As a group, they bring a good blend of personalities, experience, and creativity, and as alumni of our program they know me well, and we make a good team," said Gleddie.

"Moving up into the CIS, we have some big shoes to fill, but overall I'm convinced that this could be the most talented team that I have coached," he said.

"The key will be, as it is every year, how we come together as a team—the single-mindedness of this group. We play an up-tempo, aggressive team style of play that forces us to trust one another on the court as well as off."

2005/06 Season Preview

Thompson Rivers University WolfPack Women's Basketball

Thompson Rivers University WolfPack Women's Basketball team has its work cut out for it this year: It's the first year the team competes at the CIS level; it's booked for a very tough non-conference schedule; and it's very young, with five returning players and the rest freshmen.

The team did well playing college ball last season, and was tied for second in the BCCAA standings with a 12-6 win-loss record, when a disappointing loss in the first round put the team out of the provincial finals.

Remaining to lead the 'Pack into its first year competing in university sports are BCCAA Rookie of the Year and 1st-team BCCAA All Star Kelley O'Grady, leading scorer from last year's team, 6'1" forward Marisa Dwyer, second leading scorer last year and leading rebounder who was a 1st-team all-star at the AA provincial finals, point guard Sarah Cameron, a tenacious playmaker who was injured for most of last year, 6' post Caitlin Kettlewell, and Kali Ellis, a physically tough player who played much of last year with stress fractures in her shins.

"Kelley is a very smart and intense player who is one of the more fundamentally sound players in the province. She'll be the focus point of our offence from day one," said Head Coach Ken Olynyk.

He should know a good player when he sees one: Olynyk's 30-year basketball career includes CIS, Canadian National Team, and NBA experience, and he has received a number of awards for both playing and coaching basketball during his extensive career, including four conference and one national Coach of the Year awards, the Petro-Canada Olympic Award, and the Labatt's Olympic Coaches Award.

Olynyk, who is also TRU's Athletics Director, has full-time back-up in Joe Enevoldson, who participated in three national championships in the four years he spent assisting TRU men's basketball head coach Nevin Gledie, then made the jump to CIS in 2003/04 as assistant coach with the UBC Thunderbirds men's basketball program, returning to TRU's women's basketball program for the 2004/05 season.

Also returning after a couple of years away is Tami MacKinnon, who played for TRU in 1998/99 before transferring to the University of Texas – Pan American, where she played for a year, returning to play for TRU in 2002/03.

"We're expecting huge things from Tami this year as we enter the toughest conference in the country," said Enevoldson. "Tami adds experience and toughness in the post, and adds maturity to a very young team."

New to the team are Sarah Darley, perhaps already the team's best defender, who will play a key role this season, Alix Stupich, a AA Provincials all-star who has already proven to be a very reliable scorer, Rebekka Miltimore, a tough defender who will add some much-needed muscle in the frontcourt, Kristi Spelay, who hails from the famed Salmon Arm Jewels basketball program, and Whitney Gallamore, a provincial single-A 1st-team all-star.

"This team has just one player over the age of 20, and we expect to push the tempo and utilize our overall quickness and youthfulness to put points on the board," said Olynyk.

"With one of the toughest exhibition schedules in the country, including games against Carroll College and Lewis & Clark State, this team is preparing itself for the rigours of the Canada West," he continued.

"Moving up to the Canada West conference is going to be a tough transition, but this team is very capable of doing just that."

Thompson Rivers University WolfPack Men's Volleyball

He's got a young team, with over half of the players just out of high school, and only one returning player, but Thompson Rivers University WolfPack Head Coach Patrick Hennelly is eagerly anticipating the challenge of taking the team into its first year in the Canada West conference of CIS.

"I'm attracted by the prospect of competing in the best conference in the country," he said. "I also relish the opportunity to start and nurture a program from the beginning. This will be a tremendous challenge, one I am looking forward to."

Coach Hennelly, who came to TRU from a year-long stint as first assistant coach at Northern Arizona University after nine years coaching volleyball at UBC, has taken a number of teams to medal spots at national championships, although he's not expecting to hit the podium this year.

"We're young, and we'll be giving up experience and size to every team we play this year," he said. "We're going to have to be tenacious on defense and we'll have to have great ball control and tough serving."

Helping out in that category will be Graham Allard and Tim Flannigan, both in their third years of eligibility, and Darcy Barisoff, the WolfPack's only returnee.

"Graham was a leader in digs at the college level, and he's ready for CIS play," said Hennelly, who is expecting the 5'6" libero to lead his team in passing and defense.

Hennelly also expects great performance from 6'2" setter Flannigan, who was a starter for Grande Prairie last year. "Tim shows leadership and intensity on the court, and he's excellent at ball control and decision making," commented Hennelly.

"Even as a 2nd-year player, Darcy will be thrust into a leadership role," said Hennelly of the 6'3" outside hitter who helped his team to a 15-5 win-loss record along with provincial silver and national bronze in college play last season.

Barisoff was named Player of the Match at the CCAA playoffs and his team also won both the BCCAA and CCAA Fair Play Awards last year.

Aside from Chris Barisenkoff, who played for Okanagan two years ago, Chad Coldwell, two-time Merritt Secondary Male Athlete of the Year, and 6'3" right side Derrick Winchar, all the rest of the recruits are rookies.

Hennelly is quick to point out the talent in the making, however. "We've got a great crop of first-year players," he said.

He's looking for great results from Turkish high school recruit Behlul Yavasgel, a 6'4", 190-pound 18-year-old who played 13 times for Turkey's National Team, and took the titles Best Blocker and Best Spiker twice each in the past four years.

Another key recruit is Mitchell Anderson, a rookie from Whitehorse, Yukon, who represented Team Yukon in Regina this past summer. Hennelly's expecting Anderson to add some power to the outside hitting position.

Local high school graduates who have joined the WolfPack this year include setter Jeremy Jones, who was the top junior and senior athlete at his high school, Greg Weatherhead, a 6'6" power hitter, libero Bryan Town, and BJ Peters, who was the Kamloops Volleyball

Association MVP three years in a row and named Athlete of the Year from grades 7 to 12.

Rounding out the freshmen are Coleman Molnar, a top scholar-athlete in high school, and Brent Hall, two-time 2nd-team all-star.

Hennelly's looking forward to helping his young athletes climb the steep learning curve they'll encounter in Canada West play. "They'll get to be apprentices at the hands of the top teams in the country, and competing against top teams can only make you better," he said.

"There will be many challenges, but this is a team that will never quit."

2005/06 Season Preview

Thompson Rivers University WolfPack Women's Volleyball

This year's WolfPack women's volleyball team is going into its first year of CIS play full of experience and energy. Five veteran players who helped the team to win provincial gold and the fair play award last year are back this season, along with some very strong recruits.

"Our team completed its last season in the CCAA with a 16-4 win-loss record," said Head Coach Carrie Barrett. "With our experienced recruits adding strength to the core of provincial championship team returnees we are looking forward to the competition in our conference and in CIS this season."

Heading up the team is 4th-year outside attacker and BCCAA 1st-team all-star Robyn Devlin. Other key returnees include Jessica Baskerville, winner of a Volleyball Canada Special Recognition Award, Kristin Peters, most improved player last year, 6'2" right side Amanda Spreeuw, and Jessica Weir, an all-round athlete who has won all-star and MVP awards in basketball and soccer, as well as volleyball.

"Robyn is one of our key players, and her strength on the court and her leadership qualities in directing our team dynamics are valuable to meeting our team goals," said Barrett.

Returning this season after a year's hiatus is 6'1" middle blocker Karalyn Mackenzie, who played for Team Yukon two seasons ago, then took a year off last year while examining her academic options.

"Despite her year off, Karalyn is definitely for CIS play," Barrett said. "She strengthens our middle attack and defense considerably, and she's a great team player. Her positive influence is great for the team's morale."

The team gains further strength with the exciting out-of-province additions of Crystal Johnson, 3rd-year transfer from CCAA Alberta provincial championship team Grande Prairie Wolves, and Laura Plouffe, 2nd-year transfer from Grant MacEwan College who is fresh off the court from the Canada Games, where she played with Team Alberta.

"I expect some great things from Crystal. She's a very dynamic and ambitious player, and is very clear in what her goals are, both athletically and academically," said Barrett.

"Laura's experience as libero on Team Alberta is very much an asset to our team, where she'll play in the same position. She's very good at communication, and directs her team on the defensive side very positively and efficiently."

Replacing 4th year All-Canadian setter Lisa Strachan is Kristy Alblas, a 3rd year transfer from Douglas College who was named a 2nd-team BCCAA All-Star and Douglas College Scholar-Athlete last season.

"Kristy is a very athletically talented young woman who has really developed in meeting the expectations that I have already set for her," Barrett said. "I'm excited to see her continue her development in this key role on our team."

Coach Barrett was also pleased to recruit Brazilian power hitter Daniela Bercelli, and Chase high school grad and club volleyball all-star Stephanie Torbohm.

Fans should also be on the lookout for the WolfPack's youngest pre-recruit, Barrett's baby daughter Emily, born this past May, who'll be on the bench at most every game.

Winner of a BCCAA Coach of the Year in the 2003/04 season, Barrett is as concerned with sportsmanship and scholarship as she is with on-court performance.

"I was very pleased that my team managed an academic average of 3.6 while maintaining medal-standard performance last year," she said. "And with our team's sportsmanship, and ethical behavior both on and off the court, our program has much to be proud of."

"I expect great things from our team this season and look forward to the competition of Canada West and CIS."

Thompson Rivers University WolfPack Men's Soccer

The focus in soccer this past year has been to include a bit of an off-season program to better prepare the WolfPack for the BCCAA league but as TRU moves towards including soccer as its next CIS sport, the program will move more and more towards a full year commitment with off-season training and spring leagues.

Right now, both teams are well into their BCCAA league season play. At press time, it's no sure thing, but TRU's soccer teams have a good shot at getting into the provincial finals, with the women 3rd in the provincial rankings and the men in 6th place, with four games left to go. The men's team has already played the top-ranked teams on its side of the schedule; the women still have the two top-ranked teams to play.

Rankings can change a lot with a quarter of the season left to go, and WolfPack men's soccer head coach Sean Wallace is hopeful.

"We're still alive," he said. "If we win this weekend, we have a good chance, but we have to beat Langara or Douglas or both next weekend."

WolfPack soccer athletes have been at the top of the standings throughout the season. Katie Clark, Jackie Bekkering, Dan Cecchini and Brad Clarke have consistently been at or near the top of the BCCAA's soccer scoring leaders, while Allan Connor has held top goalie spot for two weeks in a row, with three shut-outs so far this season.

The women's soccer program at TRU has been and continues to be one of the most successful in the nation. Along with the obvious highlight of a national championship in 1999, the team has won several provincial championships and national silver medals in the last 10 years, and with that placed many athletes on CCAA National All Star team. The team draws many of the top players from the Kamloops youth organization – a credit to the community and all star coaches in the area who work hard to bring the girls to the university level of play.

"We have an excellent soccer program here at TRU, and we're lucky to be situated in a community with comprehensive soccer programs from pre-Kindergarten on up," said women's soccer head coach Eric Schweizer.

TRU hosts the BCCAA Provincial Soccer Championships the last weekend in October, and the national finals will be held at Langara November 9th to 12th.

TRU Hoopster Plays in UK

KAMLOOPS-Star basketball player Skye Buck, who was named BCCAA Player of the Year in 2004, when he was also named a CCAA Tournament Championship 1st team All-Star, and a CCAA All-Canadian, is shooting hoops for the Essex and Hertz Leopards basketball team, which competes in the English Basketball League (EBL).

"To find the team here was actually quite a task," said Buck. "I talked to former UCC players who in their travels have come across European teams and used some of their advice."

Buck flew over to Germany at the beginning of July to attend a Professional Identification Camp in Bonn. He had planned to email or phone teams in the numerous different leagues they have in each country of Europe, with plans to try out until he found one he could play on and could pay me a reasonable salary.

He found himself on an unwanted European vacation, however, when he discovered that none of the European leagues train from the end of their season in April/May until the end of August.

At the end of August he got on the Internet, emailing teams, only to find out that most had their teams finalized.

"I was blessed to find a good situation [with the Leopards] as it is very difficult to come and look for a team as an import player," said Buck, explaining that each European team is normally allowed only two 'imports' or North American players.

He's now playing for the Essex and Hertz Leopards, and coaching youth and high school age teams for the Leopards.

When his contract is over at the end of April, Skye Buck plans to return home to Clearwater and work for the summer. If he's re-signed by the team or can find another to play on, he'll fly back to Europe for another season; if not, he'll return to TRU to complete his biology degree (he has one semester left to go) and then decide if he wants to enter a teaching program.
