UCC alumni association honours five distinguished alumni

The UCC Alumni Association has honoured four graduates and one retired instructor with the 2003 Distinguished Alumni Awards.

Recipients Sukh Heer Matonovich, Bill Frymire, Jo Rothenburger, Lisa Allgaier, and Dr Roland Cobb were presented their awards at the President's Reception October 17, before a crowd of fellow alumni, faculty, family and friends.

The Alumni Association began recognizing distinguished alumni in 1995 as part of the 25th anniversary of the institution and since then, 25 alumni have been presented with the award.

With more than 20,000 graduates from UCC who live across Canada and around the world, the Distinguished Alumni Awards program offers an exciting opportunity to honour individuals, and bring attention to the vital role that our graduates play in the social and economic lives of their communities.

These individuals are recognized for their outstanding achievements in a variety of fields such as academic achievement, arts and culture, athletic achievements, professional achievements, and community service. Two new categories were introduced this year, the outstanding student award and the teaching excellence award.

2003 distinguished alumni award recipients

Sukh Heer Matonovich, who graduated in 1999 with a Bachelor of Social Work Degree, received the UCC Distinguished Alumni Award for Athletic Achievement for her accomplishments as an athlete, a coach and a sports administrator. She was nominated by alumna Carolyn Boomer, a colleague at the Pacific Sport Regional Centre, where Sukh works to provide incentives for athletes to remain in Kamloops for education, training and coaching.

Sukh was an honour student at Norkam secondary and attended UCC with a basketball scholarship. Not only was she a star player during her years at UCC, Sukh was also team captain, assistant coach and later took the head coaching job. She contributed to the development of the UCC Sun Demons sports camps, was a student member of UCC's Board of Governors and was president of UCC Sports Council.

Upon receiving her award from UCC president's Dr Roger's Barnsley, Sukh was delighted stating: "I am flattered, honoured and shocked to receive the award. UCC Athletics provided me with the most growth in the four years I played basketball. My years there helped me grow personally and professionally. The friends I made while I was at UCC are life-long friends – UCC is a place I will always call home."

Bill Frymire, a graduate of the Digital Arts and Design Diploma in 1985, was the recipient of the Distinguished Alumni Award for Professional Achievement. Nominated by his proud mother, Marguerite Frymire, Bill was honoured for his outstanding accomplishments in his field of computer graphic design.

As one of the first graduates from the Digital Arts and Design program, Bill was quickly employed as a graphic designer with one of Vancouver's largest design firms. His work was often used in the computer graphics publications as examples of then leading edge technology. His next endeavour was as art director for Showmakers Productions Inc., one of Vancouver's top corporate graphic design agencies. While working there Bill was awarded a "Top Illustrator" award by the Corel Corporation.

Today Bill runs his own business in Kamloops as a freelance graphic designer/illustrator producing imagery for corporate use worldwide.

Bill has been a proud supporter the DAAD program, contributing his time as a guest lecturer, and providing equipment and financial support. David DiFrancesco, a former instructor of Bill's presented Bill the Award. Bill's comments on receiving the award were, "UCC gave me a start in business and I haven't looked back since. If you have talent and ambition, there is a place for you in the advertising and graphics industry."

Jo Rothenburger, a graduate of the Human Service Worker Certificate in 1987, was the recipient of a combined Distinguished Alumni Award for Professional Achievement and Service to the Community. She was nominated by alumna Denise Harper, for her accomplishments in her profession and for her work in the community.

After graduating from the Human Service Worker program at UCC, Jo was hired as a counsellor with the Thompson Valley Family Services Association.

In 1997 Jo, chose to branch out on her own and began consulting work with a variety of clients including Ministry of Children and Family Development, Kamloops Community Advocacy Council, Kamloops Food Bank and Outreach Society, and the City of Kamloops. In 2003 Jo was hired as the Executive Director for the AIDS Society of Kamloops.

As a volunteer Jo has served on a number of community committees and boards. She is a well recognized individual in Kamloops for her professional and volunteer activities that have resulted in the delivery of high quality social services to marginalized and disadvantaged people in our community.

Jo was delighted to be presented her award by former instructor, Ena Fraser. Jo commented on her award saying, "It's a great honour to receive this award, but the real credit should go to the instructors in the Human Service Worker program.

They took a greenhorn like me, let me loose in the community with the right tools and skills and I was able to make a difference with what I learned."

The Grace Chronister UCC BSW Distinguished Alumni Award was developed by faculty and alumni of the Department of Social Work to recognize outstanding achievements of UCC BSW alumni whose endeavours in the community have brought honour to the UCC School of Social Work & Human Service and to the profession of social work.

Lisa Allgaier a 1993 graduate of the Bachelor of Social Work Degree is the recipient of this year's award. Lisa was nominated by faculty members Michael Crawford and Grant Larson and was honoured for her professional accomplishments in the field of social work.

Lisa is the Director General of Aboriginal Services for Corrections Canada. In her role she is responsible for correctional and parole programs for male and female Aboriginal offenders. The goal of the program is to reduce recidivism and promote successful reintegration of Aboriginal offenders in the community.

Prior to her work at Corrections Canada, Lisa had several roles with the Provincial Government, including Director of Aboriginal Health and Assistant Treaty Negotiator. She has held many volunteer positions on local, provincial and national boards, from the John Howard Society of Kamloops, to the BC Association of Social Workers.

Helen Allen, Dean of the School of Social Work and Human Services, presented Lisa Allgaier with the first Grace Chronister UCC BSW Distinguished Alumni Award. Lisa flew from Ottawa to receive her award and was thrilled about being the first recipient of this prestigious award. Lisa says, "I am honoured to be the first person to receive this award. The education I received at UCC got me to where I am today. Taking the Bachelor of Social work degree, allowed me to have a diversity of career choices."

Another new category this year, the Distinguished Alumni Award for Teaching Excellence, recognizes current and retired instructors who represent the best qualities of teachers at UCC: leadership, knowledge, inspiration, enthusiasm and excellence in their field.

This year's award recipient was Dr. Roland Cobb a retired Physics and Astronomy instructor, nominated by alumna Marilyn Poncelet.

A graduate of UBC in 1959 with a Bachelor of Science, Roland went on to receive his Masters degree in 1961 and his PhD in 1967 from the University of Rochester in New York. His work at Rochester involved research on cosmic rays from space using satellites and high altitude balloons. It was because of this research that he was invited to work with a Cosmic Ray group in the development of a telescope to search for primary gamma rays deep in space. These experiences lead to Roland's interest in the study of Astronomy.

After teaching at UBC, the University of Victoria, Roland took a position at UCC in 1970 and taught Physics and Astronomy until 1999. Roland built the observatory at the university with the help of students and faculty. The observatory was used for teaching and astronomy lovers. As part of his community service work, Roland hosted many lectures on astronomy and conducted tours of the observatory hosting groups like the Girl Guides and Boy Scouts.

Over the years, Roland has been an active volunteer in the community, from volunteer fireman with the Kamloops Fire Department in the 70's to his recent involvement with the Habitat for Humanity society.

Upon being presented the award by President Dr. Roger Barnsley, Roland commented, "Education should be fun. UCC gave me the opportunity to practice what I like doing – that's teaching."

affinity programs and your privacy

Most Canadian colleges and universities participate in affinity programs with companies offering health and life insurance, travel programs or credit cards. The establishment of affinity programs is important to Alumni Associations as a means to generate revenue that will help support their programs.

This past fall, the UCC Alumni Association got on the bandwagon and launched a MasterCard credit card program with MBNA Canada. This program was chosen by our Board of Directors because of its single-minded focus on customer satisfaction and the level of commitment that MBNA brings to the partnership.

With the launch of affinity programs, comes the issue of protecting the privacy of alumni records. The staff of the UCC Alumni Association treats your personal information with the utmost care. Confidentiality agreements are signed with each of our affinity partners to protect your privacy. Your information is never sold or released to other parties.

The UCC Alumni Association hopes that many of our alumni select the MBNA MasterCard program as a way to show support and pride for your Alumni Association. If you support the mission, visions and values of the UCC Alumni Association, then you have several reasons to carry the UCC Alumni Association preferred MasterCard.

To apply for your MBNA MasterCard, please call the Alumni Association at (250) 371-5711, e-mail us at alumni@cariboo.bc.ca or apply on-line at www.uccalumni.ca

UCC Alumni Association affinity partners occasionally mail information on products and services to our members. If you do not want to receive mailings, from our affinity partners, please call or e-mail us.

coming soon to a community near you!

There are over 20,000 UCC graduates, across the province, the country and the world. We keep in touch with those grads – and they keep in touch with each other – through our Chapter Network program.

A UCC Alumni Chapter is a group of alumni living in the same part of the world who get together on a regular basis. Regional events help establish contacts, build relationships, or just keep people in touch. Find out about the Chapter activities in your part of the world by visiting our website.

We are currently developing active Chapter committees in Vancouver, Calgary, Kamloops and Williams Lake and we are looking for enthusiastic graduates who want to help guide and plan the activities of their local Chapter. If there isn't a Chapter near you yet, you can volunteer to establish a chapter in your area! For information on upcoming events or how you can help, get in touch with your local Chapter contact or our Alumni Relations Officer, Victoria Baker at (250) 828-5498 or email: vbaker@cariboo.bc.ca.

building our future

UCC Alumni Association gives $8000 in Student Scholarships & Bursaries

At UCC's annual Awards Ceremony on November 20th, 581 students received $755,000 in support of their post-secondary education. Eleven students shared $8000 in awards from the UCC Alumni Association Endowment Fund. Interest earned on the Endowment Fund is used to provide scholarships and bursaries for UCC students, with preference given to UCC alumni and their children. Established in 1990, the UCC Alumni Association Endowment Fund is the second largest fund at the UCC Foundation, currently sitting at over $160,000. However, declining interest rates and rising tuitions costs have made the need to grow our endowment more urgent. Your gift to the UCC Alumni Association Endowment Fund will help a current student achieve their educational goals. Give back to your alma mater and assist us in "Building Our Future."
